I got some chicken out of the freezer earlier ready to make dinner tonight.

I put it on the draining board to defrost.

Husband got home, said hello and goodbye and immediately went out to the pub with a work colleague.

He's still at the pub.

The chicken is still on the draining board.

I've eaten a Tunnocks Teacake, 5 grapes and a slice of Red Leicester, washed down with a Shandy in a can.

Now I'm off to bed.
