#MySundayPhoto

This was taken yesterday at our local, 'Party in the Park', event.

It was on all day but we went to the later part of it where they were screening The Force Awakens on a big screen for everyone to enjoy. My husband bailed out with the toddler before the film (the Hubster doesn't 'do' crowds and public things very well...) but I stayed with my older two and we had the BEST time.

We laid on our rug, with some snacks and some lemonade and snuggled up together to keep warm whilst watching one of our favourite films. It was super...AND I got to sit down for 2 hours!!!! Whoop! #winningatlife (for those 2 hours anyway!) ☐
