

Shopping lucky dip...

Bloody hell.

I've become so forgetful since having the kids that even the online food shop (which I only ordered yesterday) arriving causes me a great deal of excitement because I can never remember what I bought and then I'm like,

"Oh, wow! That looks yummy! I'm so glad I bought that!"

Or

"Really?! We already have 5 jars of mayonnaise. Why did I buy another one??"

It's like a win on a lucky dip every time I empty one of the bags...

Please don't judge my shop...all the healthy stuff was at the other end of the worktop. Honest ☐
