

#capturingtheday – Week 9

Instagram Roundup

Here we are, our week 9 roundup for #capturingtheday. Another week has flown by and we have now passed the milestones of Halloween and Bonfire night. I hope you and your families had a lovely time, we certainly saw some smashing photos linked up this week because of all the festivities.

We are now just a few photos away from hitting the 2000 images mark in our little community which is astonishing. Well done to my partner in crime, Yvonne, for all her time and hard work and a HUGE thank you to everyone who joins in. Our first fears of nobody joining in with it have certainly been laid to rest!

I have had an up and down week. The toddler was poorly at the start of the week with a seasonal cold/just feeling slightly off his best bug which resulted in him communicating solely through the medium of whining...joy. The middle of the week was better and now my eldest is poorly with a stomach bug. It's tag team bugs in this house at the moment – I might have been going a bit mad with the cleaning and bleach this week as a result.

My fave photo of my own for the week is this one from last night's school firework display. We had a wonderful time and I feel very lucky that the kids go to such a super school where events like this can happen. There are some very selfless people who give up a lot of free time to make these events happen, we truly are very grateful to them. It was wonderful to see so many people filling the school, all wrapped up, eyes skywards and smiles on their faces...

I can't wait to see everyone else's firework photos this morning!

So, without further ado, here are my 4 featured images for this weeks #capturingtheday...

A little lad sat in his favourite bucket wearing a Witches hat, a beautiful autumn tree with leaves coloured like flames, a dad and his little one playing on the beach at sunset and a little girl who is completely overjoyed at playing in the autumn leaves...

Congratulations to all of you and thanks again to everyone who linked up.

Do spread the word and join in again this week!

All photos are welcome. Baking, crafts, days out, sunsets, tantrums, well earned nights out for the parents, whatever it is you've captured during the week.

To finish, here is my favourite photo by my partner in crime for #capturingtheday, Yvonne over at Double the Monkey Business...

It's a photo of one of her little twin boys all ready for Halloween, dressed as Luke Skywalker. I love the look on his little face, nervous excitement I would describe it as... Reminds me of what I would have been like at this age actually. He's so cute.

See you all next week for our week 10 roundup!

Double figures next week! Whoop!
