

Easy Like Sunday Morning... (And Princess Leia)

Sunday morning is...

Cuddles with your brothers on the sofa under a duvet whilst watching Star Wars, Return of the Jedi.

Like butter woukdn't melt...

This idyllic scene lasted 5 minutes and then the toddler stripped himself down to his nappy to run about like a Tasmanian Devil, the middle one is now playing Angry Birds on the iPad (though makes a change from Kinder Egg opening) and the eldest one is telling them both to be quiet because he's watching the beautiful (by that I mean horrendously awkward) scene where 'it's very nearly incest' and Luke and Leia want to snog each other's faces off but realise they're actually brother and sister...

What are you all up to this morning?
