

Knutty Explorers

This page shall be dedicated to all the lovely places we have been to explore, or have been to on Holiday, as a family (and just as a couple, which hardly ever happens these days!).

I will write a bit about them, tell you all what we loved (and what we didn't) and then you could maybe look at taking a trip or holiday there yourselves one day!

As we have 3 boys, holiday's and day's out can be expensive and a logistical nightmare, so staycations and places close to home are very much our 'thing'.

The UK has so many hidden gems, most of which we are yet to discover, but hopefully we have found a few that I am able to share with you all.

Happy Exploring!
