

#capturingtheday – Week 11

Roundup

Week 11 of our instagram community #capturingtheday is go!

Another week has gone by and we are another week closer to...Christmas! I know, I know, it's still only the middle of November, but we can't ignore it now people. I have officially done NOTHING. How about you guys? Have you all started Christmas shopping?

As usual, we had so many wonderful photos to choose from this week, capturing everything from days out, to lazy days at home, to baking and smiley, happy kids. We are really loving all the photos that are flooding in!

So, without further ado, here are my 4 featured images for this week's #capturingtheday...

A gorgeous little chap with a muddy hand (the sign of a fun day that is!), some AMAZING Children in Need Cakes (seriously, how good are they?!?!), a delicious baked caramel apple with ice cream (drool!) and a little one havnig some word/handwriting practice on the kicthen floor with some chalk.

Yvonne over at Double the Monkey Business has chosen 4 stunners as well featuring some gorgeous little faces.

We truly are so lucky to have so many wonderful photos to choose from!

Congratulations to all of you and thanks again to everyone who linked up to #capturingtheday.

Do spread the word of our linkup and join in again this week for your chance to be featured!

All photos are welcome. Baking, crafts, days out, sunsets, tantrums, well earned nights out for the parents, whatever it is you've captured during the week.

To finish, here is my fave photo by my partner in crime for #capturingtheday, Yvonne over at Double the Monkey Business...

I am a sucker for a rose, but the winter flowering ones especially. They always manage to cheer me up on a cold, dull day.

I loved the pale peach colour of this one too.
