

Growing Pains – The emotional turmoil of parenting... (Published on the Huffington Post)

I have written another piece for, The Huffington Post.

It's a bit off piste for me, in that for a change, I'm not joking about consuming copious amounts of Gin or the fact my toddler smeared himself in his own poo again (yes, that has happened this week...the joys!)

It's a piece about the emotional few weeks we have had in our household with regards to school and the kids growing up. Something I thought I was ready for but, it turns out, I'm totally not! ☐

Click here to have a read if you wish...

Normal, profanity filled, gin enhanced service shall now be resumed.

Gems.x